NYPC ACCESS SIG

The NYC Access SIG helps Access users (from novice to professional) get the most out of Access through sharing current methods and techniques.

The SIG usually meets the first Monday every month, except during mid-Summer. On occasion the SIG participates in joint meetings with companies or organizations whose work involves Microsoft Access.

Meeting Notice

Speaker: Luke Chung

Luke Chung is the president and founder of FMS, Inc, (www.fmsinc.com), a software development firm near Washington DC celebrating their 30th year in business. FMS is the world's leading developer of 3rd party products for Microsoft Access with tens of thousands of customers in over 100 countries. Popular products include Total Access Analyzer, Total Access Detective, Total Access Emailer, Total Access Statistics, Total Visual Agent, Total Visual CodeTools, Total Visual SourceBook, and many more. FMS has also created a wide range of custom database solutions on Windows and the web with Access, .NET, and SQL Server.

Topic: Various Topics

Luke is a Microsoft MVP for Microsoft Access and has worked with Access since its debut in 1992. He's written many papers, spoken at Access and database conferences around the world, became an accidental media star during the healthcare.gov debacle, and serves on a variety of boards. Throughout it all, he remains an active Access developer. He's visiting us to share information on his MS Access related products and work, his experience with the Access community and software industry, and answer any questions you may have. He's visited our SIG over the decades with lively and entertaining presentations.

There will be giveaways of FMS products Total Access Analyzer and Total Access Emailer
